

Time to Spring Clean your Organization's data!

Over time your company will begin accumulating large amounts of data, which can be counter-productive if significant portions of that data is bad, incomplete, or corrupt. Now is the time to go back and give your data a deep cleanse. We can review the health of your company's data & help create strategies to get you back on track. First step would be to retro-actively clean the data you currently have – possibly merging existing accounts/contacts or removing duplicates. After cleaning the current data, we would want to put measures in place to ensure that only clean data is entered moving forward.

We can customize these filters and validation rules to meet your specific needs!
